CHAPTER 2 2.2 Evolution of the Deming Prize Japan's automaker, Mazda, based in Hiroshima, was one of the largest passenger automobile companies in the world. It currently makes the Miata (2.0L) and the Miata (2.3L), and the company recently added the mini, the sixth generation of the Miata (2.0L) and the Mx-5 (2.0L), to its lineup. Mazda's automobile has been popular and pioneering in the automobile market. It is one of the world's most successful manufacturers of passenger automobiles. (In this document, the "product" may refer to either the passenger automobile Mazda makes, or to a specific model vehicle of that line). In 1989, Mazda also established a foundation under the name of Mr. Deming. The foundation is created to honor and perpetuate the name and spirit of Dr. W. Edwards Deming. Its activities cover various aspects of society, including children's welfare, sport, the environment, and education. In this chapter, the "deming prize" will first be introduced. Then, a brief description of the automobile industry in Japan will be explained. Secondly, the development of the automobile industry over time in Japan will be explained, which includes both the basic drivers of market demand and the characteristics of the Japanese automobile market. Finally, the challenges that Japanese automobile manufacturers face are discussed. To accomplish this, a brief history of the deming prize will be provided. The Deming Prize The Deming Prize is awarded annually by the Mazda Deming Prize Committee to acknowledge the achievements of persons who have made outstanding contributions to the world of business. The committee is founded by the Mazda Foundation, a charitable trust established to carry out the wishes of Mr. W. Edwards Deming. The annual Deming Prize is awarded to a person who has contributed to improving international competitiveness, to bringing about world peace, and to enriching the lives of others.

----- Japanese Automobile Industry The Japanese automobile industry has been the largest automobile manufacturer in the world for most of the past century. After the damage of World War II, it also became the largest auto market in the world (with a market size of more than 10 billion US dollars). The Japanese automotive industry is the largest auto industry in terms of sales in the world. The Japanese domestic auto market accounts for nearly 50 percent of global car production, and the Japanese auto market has been one of the most stable markets in the world over the last few 6d1f23a050
